As part of the objective to strengthen the Shariah-compliance culture among Islamic financial institutions (IFIs), Bank Negara Malaysia (the Bank) is embarking on an initiative to develop a Shariah-based regulatory framework. The purpose of the framework is to ensure that the IFIs comply with Shariah. In this regard, the Bank is issuing a series of policy documents on Shariah contracts to enhance the end-to-end compliance with Shariah.

This Exposure Draft (ED) outlines the Shariah requirements and optional practices relating to kafalah to facilitate IFIs in developing Islamic financial services and products including the features of kafalah and its arrangement with other Shariah contracts or concepts.

The Bank invites written comments from your institution on this ED, including suggestions for particular issues, areas to be further clarified/elaborated and any alternative proposal that the Bank should consider. To facilitate the Bank’s assessment, please support each comment with clear rationale, accompanying evidence or illustrations, as appropriate.

Written comments in the form of softcopy are preferable and may be submitted to shariahstandard@bnm.gov.my by 10 January 2014. Hardcopy of the written feedback may also be submitted to:

8. Nature

8.1 Kafalah is a type of assurance contract which is binding on the guarantor.

8.2 The specific inherent nature of kafalah is to provide assurance on the fulfilment of an obligation established as the guaranteed party’s liability.
PART C  COMPONENTS OF KAFALAH

9. Contracting parties

| S  | 9.1 | The contracting parties in a kafalah contract are the guarantor (kafil), the beneficiary\(^2\) (makful lahu) and the guaranteed party\(^3\) (makful `anhu). |
| S  | 9.2 | The contracting parties, except the guaranteed party, shall have the legal capacity\(^4\) to enter into the kafalah contract. |
| G  | 9.3 | The contracting parties in a kafalah contract may be a natural person or a legal person. |
| S  | 9.4 | The guarantor shall be accepted by the beneficiary. |

PART D MANAGEMENT OF KAFALAH

11. Rights and responsibilities

G 11.1 The guarantor may give an unrestricted kafalah whereby the kafalah is of the original debt without any additional condition or description to the terms of the original debt.

S 11.2 Pursuant to paragraph 11.1, the guarantor shall be held liable to the obligation according to the terms of the original debt.

G 11.3 The guarantor may give a restricted kafalah whereby the details of the guarantee are specified. The specified details may include time, effective date/trigger event of the guarantee, the amount, or any additional condition acceptable in the Shariah.

S 11.4 Pursuant to paragraph 11.3, the guarantor shall be held liable to the kafalah obligation according to the specified details.

S 11.5 If the obligation becomes claimable before maturity due to the demise or dissolution of the guaranteed party, the kafalah remains enforceable upon the maturity date of the original obligation unless otherwise specified.

S 11.6 If the guarantee period is not specified and the beneficiary grants the guaranteed party an extension period to settle the obligation, such extension shall also apply to the guarantee.

S 11.7 In the event that the guaranteed party is guaranteed by multiple guarantors, the sequence and obligation for each of the guarantors shall be determined before entering into the kafalah.
11.8 The beneficiary may claim his debt from the guaranteed party and/or the guarantor, either the full amount of the debt from either of them, or a part of the debt from the guaranteed party and the other part from the guarantor.

11.9 The guarantor and the beneficiary may agree on the sequence of claims by stipulating that the beneficiary shall first claim the debt from the guaranteed party and will only claim from the guarantor if the guaranteed party is unable to settle his debt or fulfill his obligation.

12. Imposition of fee or charges on kafalah

12.1 The guarantor may impose a fee for providing the kafalah service to the guaranteed party.

12.2 Pursuant to paragraph 12.1, the fee may include any agreed amount in the course of providing the kafalah service.

13. Recourse and recovery

13.1 The guarantor shall have no recourse against the guaranteed party in either of the following circumstances:
   (a) the kafalah is given on a voluntary basis, without request or consent from the guaranteed party;
   (b) the guaranteed party has no legal capacity to acknowledge indebtedness.

13.2 A guarantor may seek recourse against the guaranteed party for any amount paid to settle the obligation if the kafalah is created upon the request or by the consent of the guaranteed party at any time during the guarantee period.

S 13.3 In the event that the guarantor secures a discount and thus settles the debt with an amount less than the original debt, the guarantor is only entitled to the actual amount he has paid to the beneficiary.

S 13.4 The guarantor is only entitled to recourse for an amount up to the original debt.

S 13.5 In the event that the guarantor has equivalent liability to that of the guaranteed party and both parties agree to set off their respective liabilities, the guarantor is not entitled to recourse from the guaranteed party.
PART E  ARRANGEMENT OF KAFALAH WITH ANOTHER CONTRACT

14. Arrangement of kafalah with assurance

---

G 14.1 A kafalah contract may be arranged with an assurance.

G 14.2 The guaranteed party may place a full or partial amount of collateral in the custody of the guarantor to fulfil the amount of the guarantee.

G 14.3 The guarantor may set off the recourse amount on any collateral placed in the custody of the guarantor by the guaranteed party.

G 14.4 The guarantor may appoint another party as guarantor to guarantee the obligation due to beneficiary.

PART F  DISSOLUTION (FASAKH) AND COMPLETION (INTIHA’) OF KAFALAH CONTRACT

15. Dissolution of kafalah

S 15.2 Notwithstanding paragraph 15.1 (a), in the event that the kafalah contract involves imposition of a fee, the contract shall not be terminated without the consent of the guaranteed party.
15.3 Upon dissolution of kafalah, in case any obligation remains upon the guaranteed party, the obligation remains upon the guaranteed party and not upon the guarantor. Any amount paid to the guarantor shall be returned to the payer.

16. Completion of kafalah

16.1 The kafalah contract ends under the following circumstances:

(a) payment of the guaranteed debt by the guaranteed party, his agent (wakil), or the guarantor;

(b) the beneficiary waiving its right to claim the guaranteed debt from the guaranteed party and/or the guarantor through a rebate (ibra);

(c) set-off (muqassah) of debt obligations between the beneficiary and the guaranteed party/guarantor; or

(d) expiry of the period of guarantee and period of claim.

16.2 Upon completion of the kafalah, the guarantor shall be free from the obligation.

16.3 In the event the beneficiary discharges the guaranteed party from the debt, the guarantor is automatically discharged from his liability.

16.4 In the event the beneficiary discharges the guarantor from the liability, the guaranteed party remains indebted.
APPENDICES

17. Appendix 1  Legitimacy of kafalah

17.1 The legitimacy of the kafalah contract is derived from the Quran and founded on the Sunnah of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him) and the consensus of Muslim jurists (ijma').

The Quran

17.2 The following verse of the Quran implies the permissibility of the kafalah contract:

ٍّ ْنِفْقَدُ ﺻُوْاعَ اﻟْﻤَﻠِﻜِ

[The officials] said, "We are missing the king's goblet." [And their chief added], "He who brings it shall have a camel-load of provisions; I personally guarantee it." (Surah Yusuf, verse 72).

The Sunnah of Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him)

17.3 The following hadith implies the permissibility of kafalah.

ٍّ ْنِفْقَدُ ﺻُوْاعَ اﻟْﻤَﻠِﻜِ

Jabir narrated: The Messenger of Allah (peace be upon him) would not say funeral prayer over a person who died while a debt was due from him. The body of a Muslim was brought to him, and he asked: "Is there any debt due from him?" [The companions] said: "Yes, two dinars." He said: "Pray over your companion [as he has unpaid debt]." Then Abu Qatadah al-Ansari said: "I shall pay them, Messenger of Allah." The Messenger of Allah (pbuh) then prayed over him." (Narrated by Abu Dawud, Sunan Abi Dawud, Hadith no. 3343)
Consensus of the Muslim jurists (Ijma')

17.4 The Muslim jurists have reached ijma' on the permissibility of kafalah in general, as cited by Ibn Qudamah (Al-Mughni, 4:400).
